These partners are focused on working with local criminal justice leadership teams like the City's Criminal Justice Coordinating Council to support the use of criminal justice data to design and implement innovative, data-driven, and comprehensive approaches to reduce crime, cut recidivism rates, and direct resources toward more cost-effective safety strategies. Meckenzie Hayes, Justice Reinvestment Coordinator - Office of the Governor, will provide an overview of Missouri's JRI history, what the State has accomplished thus far, including virtual workshops hosted by the OSCA with Presiding Judges and local criminal justice teams, and a general overview of the grant funds that are available to the Council.	Meckenzie Hayes	30
